We announce to-day Judge Reuben Brown as the Democratic candidate for the Legislature in this county. This announcement meets with the unanimous approval of the Democracy. Judge Brown is well known to the people as a man of ability and integrity; no man in the county stands higher in public estimation. As county Judge, his course met the approbation of men of all parties. Let us have Judge Brown, then, as our Representative. He is familiar with all our county affairs, and is better suited than any other man to represent us. There are questions connected with the management of the county and city, as well as the State, to be attended to.

One of Mr. Rodman's complaints, that old-line Whigs are overlooked by the Democracy, is already met. Judge Brown is an old-line Whig, and as Mr. Rodman is anxious for their promotion, he must concede the propriety of the Judge representing us in the next House. We predict the election of Judge Brown by a large majority. The Representative ought to come from the county—the city has had the member for lo! these many years.

The O. K. N. county convention, which met on yesterday, indorsed the Louisville platform and nominations, appointed delegates to the Lexington Opposition Convention, and nominated John Rodman, Esq., as the K. N. candidate for the Legislature in this county. The convention was entertained with several "Ogle spoon" speeches, and then adjourned. Not a word was said about Trabue in the meeting. The difficulty with him was artfully dodged by the managers of the Opposition, and his friends did not seem to take alarm. The harmony, however, was all upon the surface. Trabue intends to run on his own hook, and his friends will not consent to see him slaughtered by the Lexington and Frankfort cliques. The Opposition will begin to oppose each other after that Lexington Convention comes off, unless it should concede the track to Trabue. That's our prediction.

The Opposition held their county meeting on yesterday to nominate delegates to a Congressional Convention. In his opening address, the chairman of the meeting spoke of a written application to the Auditor for copies of public documents, showing the extravagance in part of the K. N. administration, as having been made by an "emissary."

We have come to a pretty pass, truly, if a citizen cannot call for copies of such documents without being stigmatized in this manner. We must have still more of these fearful facts and documents, although it makes the Opposition tremble. As the Opposition press are busily engaged in publishing the accounts for furnishing the new Capitol at Washington, will they be so kind as to give the sums expended in re-furnishing the Capitol, Auditor's office, and Governor's house here?

The State of Kentucky was run in debt about five millions of dollars for useless works of improvement by the Opposition to Democracy. Thirty times this sum would give one hundred and fifty millions, and shows the amount the debt would have been if their theater had been the whole union instead of a single State. The annual interest upon the State debt is a tax directly out of the pockets of the people. Before the debt was created the tax was six cents to the hundred dollars—now it is twenty cents. Truly the Opposition is a wonderful party to complain of national expenses which involve not a cent of direct taxation.

The Democracy of Nelson county held a meeting on the 11th inst., and approved the action of the Central Committee of the 5th Congressional district in calling a convention to nominate a candidate for Congress. They also passed a resolution expressing their preference for Hon. J. H. Jewett. Anderson, Spencer, and Larue have heretofore expressed a preference for him.

On Saturday, the jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. McAfee, for killing Jenkins, in the Mercer Circuit Court, returned a verdict of not guilty. They were not more than five minutes in making up the verdict.

John Rodman, Esq., judging from his speech on yesterday, is anxious to have opposition. He will be accommodated. His speech shows that he needs a teacher, as he has yet to learn that the homestead bill, the passage of which he charged upon the Democratic party, did not become the law of the land. We predict that he will have a "hard road to travel" in his effort to run up Bell's majority in this county to two hundred! He will learn, too, that a few anecdotes, at this day, and abuse of the Democratic Administration and foreigners, will not win.

It is in good keeping for K. N.'s to call men "emissaries" for calling upon their officials for copies of official documents. It will be remembered that when the Democratic electoral college met here in December, 1856, to cast the vote of the State, a committee appointed by the electors were refused by the K. N. Secretary of State to examine the official returns of the Presidential election. He doubtless thought they were "emissaries," as the Opposition chairman yesterday thought of a private citizen calling for copies of official documents.

PANORAMA.—It will be seen by notice in another column that a panorama of the expedition of Dr. Kane to the Arctic seas in search of Sir John Franklin, will be exhibited at the Theater to-night. We have never seen the picture, but the owner of it has given us evidence that it is a painting of considerable merit, and well worth a visit from all admirers of the fine arts. The price of admission is very low—only 25 cents—and we have no doubt that all who visit it will be amply repaid for so small an outlay.

At the close of the Opposition meeting yesterday Hon. J. J. Crittenden was called upon and made a short speech. Whilst he was enjoining Gen. Jackson, and disparaging Buchanan, we wondered if he should live twenty years if he would not change his opinion of Mr. Buchanan. We believe he has not always thought well of Jackson.

A remarkable story is told in the Providence Press about a man in Mapleville, the wheel of whose wagon, sustaining a load of sixty hundred, is said to have passed directly over his head without seriously harming him! A man with such a head may consider himself tolerably safe.

RACES.—The spring meeting over the Association course at Lexington will commence on Monday, the 23d day of May, and continue during the week.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

Slavery in the Territories.

As specimens of the views held by prominent Southern statesmen on the subject of slavery in the Territories in 1854, we present a collection of extracts, which a Washington correspondent has embodied in a letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer. The citations are all taken from an appendix to Senator Douglas' recent speech in the Senate, which he is scattering broadcast through the country.

Hon. Howell Cobb, now Secretary of the Treasury, made a speech at Westchester, Penn., on the 19th of September, 1856. He stated that the will of the majority of the people of Kansas should decide the slavery question, and that he should abide the decision. He declared that he would not plant slavery upon the soil of any portion of God's earth against the will of the people, even if his voice could bring about the result. Being asked whether he meant that the people of a Territory before forming their constitution should have power to exclude slavery, he said it was purely a theoretical issue, and went on to show it, in the course of his remarks, saying:

"But those who hold that the Territorial Legislature can not pass a law prohibiting slavery, admit that, unless the Territorial Legislature pass laws for its protection, slavery will not go there. Therefore, practically, a majority of the people represented in the Territorial Legislature decides the question. Whether they decide it by prohibiting it, according to one doctrine, or by refusing to pass laws protecting it as contended for by the other party, is immaterial. The majority of the people, by the action of the Territorial Legislature, will decide the question, and all must abide the decision when made."

My friend, you observe that, no matter what the issue is presented, I stand upon a principle. There I planted myself in the commencement of this argument, the right of the people to self government. I intend to maintain it, to stand by it, to carry it out, to enforce it. If it operates to the exclusion of the people of my section of the country from these Territories, be it so, it is the Constitution of the country, and they have no right to complain. If it operates in their behalf and for their protection, I call upon you to say is it not right that they should have the benefit of it?"

These views were advanced by Judge Douglas in his Freeport speech.

Vice-President Breckinridge, in a speech in the House of Representatives in March, 1854, said: "The right of property, under the Constitution, as well as legislative action, is properly left to the decision of the Federal judiciary." And in a speech at Lexington Ky., June 9, 1856, he said: "The whole power of the Democratic organization is pledged to the following propositions: That Congress shall not interpose upon this subject in the States, in the Territories, or in the District of Columbia."

Speaker Orr, of S. C., on the 11th December, 1856, in the House of Congress, indorsed a speech made by the Hon. S. A. Smith, of Tenn., in which he (Smith) said, Mr. Orr agreeing with him:

"Now, the Legislative authority of a Territory is invested with a discretion to vote for or against slavery. We think we ought to pass laws in every Territory when the Territory is open to settlement, and slavery goes there, to protect slave property. But if they decline to pass such laws, what is the remedy. None, sir. If the majority of the people are opposed to the institution, and if they do not desire it ingrafted upon their Territory, all they have to do is simply to decline to pass the laws in the Territorial Legislature for its protection, and then it is well excluded as if the power was invested in the Territorial Legislature to prohibit it. Now, I ask the gentleman what is the practical importance to result from the agitation and discussion of this question as to whether squatter sovereignty does or does not exist?"

The Hon. A. H. Stephens, of Ga., in a speech in Congress, Feb. 17, 1854, said: "The question was to be taken out of Congress, where it had been improperly thrust from the beginning, and to be left to the people concerned in the matter to decide for themselves."

On the 17th of June, 1856, the same gentleman said:

And although my own opinion is that the people, under the limitations of the Constitution, have not the rightful power to exclude slavery so long as they remain in a Territorial condition, yet I am willing that they may pass it, it is the result of a fair legislative expression upon the popular will, never! I am willing that the Territorial Legislature may act upon the subject when and how they may think proper.

Senator Benjamin, of Louisiana, in his speech of May 23, 1855, said of the Nebraska Bill:

It proposes to announce as a principle to the people of the United States, that the General Government is not to legislate at all upon this question of slavery. It is not to legislate at all; it is not to legislate to prohibit it; it is a forbidden subject. The flaming sword ought to guard all access to it. No impious foot ought to endeavor to tread within its sacred precincts. That is the principle which I find in this bill, and that is the principle which I wish to see established in the country; and when it shall have been established, it will be in vain for fanatics, either North or South, to endeavor to create any permanent excitement in the minds of the American people.

Senator Mason, of Va., who, at the late session, demanded a slave code for the Territories, said in a speech in the Senate, May 1854, that the Nebraska Bill was "objectionable in that feature of it, for, one, which does not deny to the people the right to legislate on the subject of slavery." He was, however, willing to yield that as a question of "expediency."

On the 11th of December, 1856, he said:

The previous debate had reference to the issues raised by the Kansas-Nebraska Bill, and what I intended to say, and what the public had heard, would have said, was this, that those with whom I act, have uniformly denied any power whatever, in Congress, to legislate on the subject of slavery in the Territories.

The late Senator Butler, of S. C., in a speech on the Nebraska Bill, March 2, 1854, said:

Now I believe that under the provisions of this bill and of the Utah and New Mexico bills, there will be a perfect carte blanche given to the Territorial Legislature to legislate as they may think proper. I am willing as I said before, to trust the discretion, and honesty, and good faith of the people upon whom we devolve this power; but I can never consent that that they can take it of themselves, or that it belongs to them without delegating it, for I think they are our deputies—limited, controllable deputies, not squatter sovereigns.

Senator Hunter, of Va., Feb. 24, 1854, said:

The bill provides that the Legislatures of these Territories shall have the power to legislate over all rightful subjects of legislation, consistently with the Constitution. And if they should assume powers which are thought to be inconsistent with the Constitution, the Courts will decide that question wherever it may be raised.

Senator Brown, of Mississippi, who now insists on a slave code for the Territories, said, July 2, 1856, that he and General Cass, though they differed as to the right of a Territorial Legislature over slavery, agreed as to the proposition that whoever felt aggrieved by the action of such a body must look to the Courts and not to Congress for a remedy.

The Hon. Geo. W. Jones, of Tennessee, in a speech delivered in Congress, December 28, 1855, said:

Thou, sir, you may call it by what name you please—non-intervention, squatter sovereignty, or popular sovereignty. It is, sir, the power of the people to govern themselves, and they and they alone should exercise it, in my opinion, as well while in a Territorial condition as in the position of a State.

Hon. Mr. Branch, of N. C., July 24, 1856, said:

The power of the people during the existence of their Territorial government, is a judicial question to be settled by the Courts, if a case should ever arise involving the question; and whatever Congress might have said in the bill, it could not alter the Constitution, nor take the question that out of the hands of the Courts. Whatever may be the decision of the Courts, I will be content; for I regard the great main feature of the bill as infinitely transcending in importance any of the minor questions that can be raised under it, and I would rather trust the question to the people of the Territory than to such a Congress as we now have, and are liable to have at any time in the future.

Senator Bayard, of Delaware, May 25, 1854, said:

The great principle of the bill is the renunciation by Congress of all authority to legislate in regard to the institution of slavery, either for its establishment or its prohibition, beyond the two articles contained in the Constitution which delegate two express powers in relation to slavery, one to prohibit the slave-trade and the second to provide for the reclamation of fugitives slaves who may escape into other States where slavery is not recognized by law.

The honorable Senator from Virginia, (Mr. Mason), assumes substantially the same position, placing the importance of the bill on the single ground that it establishes the principle of non-intervention by Congress with the institution of slavery in the Territories, as well as the States of this Union. Mr. President, I consider that an important principle; and if I supposed that the effect of this bill would be to remove from the halls of Congress all agitation in regard to the question of slavery hereafter; if I supposed that it would bury forever hereafter this question of abolition, I would sacrifice almost any of the other opinions which I entertain in order to vote for the bill.

These extracts show what was the understanding of the Democratic party over the whole country in 1854 and 1856. It was that whatever power Congress possessed over the subject of slavery in the Territories was transferred by the Kansas-Nebraska bill to the people of the Territories themselves, thereby establishing absolute non-intervention by Congress; and, in the next place, declaring that, if any person felt aggrieved at the action of a Territorial Legislature on the subject of slavery, he could, when a case arose, have the Supreme Court of the United States decide on the Constitutionality of the Territorial laws. Good faith requires that that understanding should be maintained, whether Mr. Secretary Cobb, Vice President Breckinridge, Mr. Douglas, or any other, shall be the nominee of the Democratic party in 1860. Unless it is, the Democratic party ceases to exist as a National party.

Rheumatism Cured.

To the readers of the Yeoman: Preserve this notice. If not afflicted yourself, you may serve suffering humanity by sending it to some one who is.

Dr. Mortimore, by personal treatment, and the use of his remedy, by Physicians and Druggists, has cured probably twenty thousand cases of this painful and paralyzing disease—comprising cases of every seeming form, from those of a recent inflammatory (acute) character, to old chronic cases of ten, twenty, and even thirty years' standing.

This disease is becoming more prevalent every year, and is seldom cured, or even alleviated, by the usual course of treatment. In its active form it often proves fatal, or if not soon arrested, becomes chronic—stiffens the joints, contracts the ligaments, muscles, and tendons, and thus renders the sufferer a cripple for life, or, if ever afterwards cured, even by the use of this remedy, requires longer treatment and greater expense.

This is a vegetable internal remedy which cured the proprietor of it after long suffering, and all the usual remedies known had failed, and is safe to be used in any state of health—even by the most delicate female or child, and its success, in curing rheumatism, is attested by thousands, among whom are eminent physicians, ministers of various denominations, prominent journalists, and individuals of high standing throughout our country, such as should inspire confidence in every rational mind.

This evidence can be had on call at the office; or those at a distance, by addressing the proprietor, will receive, by mail, a circular of evidence. The remedy can be had at $5 per bottle, or five bottles for $20. Persons ordering at a distance can remit at the proprietor's risk by registering letter, and the medicine will be forwarded by express, or as directed, to any place in the United States or Europe.

ICE.

THE TRI-WEEKLY YEOMAN.

Trial of D. E. Sickles.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 15.

The Court-room is crowded to-day, as it has been since the commencement of this memorable trial. The interest in it does not abate a jot, but rather becomes intensified from day to day.

There is so much time consumed in argument of questions that but little progress is made, and weeks may yet elapse before the trial is brought to a close. The court was opened at half-past ten, and soon after the prisoner was brought in, looking less careworn than hitherto.

James W. McKim, the locksmith, was recalled to make some corrections in his testimony.

No one spoke to me but the colored man; I heard Mr. Pendleton's name mentioned; this gentleman, (pointing to Mr. Lee Jones, a lawyer, who sits beside the prosecuting counsel,) is the man I took to be Mr. Pendleton.

It was the colored man who sent for me; I went by the back door; the front door was locked; I tried to unlock the back door, and found it was unlocked; the lock had not been broken; this was a week after Mr. Key's death; the gentlemen I spoke of were upstairs, I think; I do not remember their coming down, nor did I go up stairs; I saw them in the yard, and saw them go up stairs; they did not superintend the taking of the lock, nor did they give me any directions; the lock put on was quite a different kind of a lock from that I took off.

John W. Seeley examined—I saw the witness take off the lock; saw him opening the back door, and heard the order given to take the lock off the front door; Mr. Chas. Lee Jones and Mr. Pendleton were present, one of them directed the locksmith to remove it.

Louis Koole was present when the lock was taken off; think it was the Monday or Tuesday week following the death of Key. Pendleton, Jones, Seeley (the colored man) and myself were present; Pendleton ordered the old lock to be taken from the door and replaced by a new one. After this order, Jones and Pendleton went up stairs and examined the portion of the house known as the "back room," and the reason I knew it was Pendleton.

Mr. Carlisle (interrupting)—"It is not necessary to state that. There is no doubt its being Pendleton."

Rev. C. H. A. Bulkley was asked whether he knew the liability of Mr. Sickles to intemperance and sudden excitement.

The District Attorney objected, unless the excitability went to the extent of insanity.

An argument ensued, during which Mr. Brady said that he proposed in addressing the jury to speak to them about insanity in all its bearings. Some men are lunatics for a few days, some for years, and some are incurably insane, and he therefore believed that any man of intelligence can express an opinion on the different phases of insanity.

Mr. Brady wanted to prove that Mr. Sickles on one occasion had become positively insane, and had to be placed under restraint.

Mr. Carlisle withdrew his objections.

Witness—The incident which I am about to relate, occurred, I think, in 1840, on the occasion of the death of Prof. Dupont in New York. He was a kind of patron or guardian of Sickles, or rather I might say that Sickles was regarded by his students as his protégé, as one in whom Dupont took a special interest with regard to his education. In the cemetery where Prof. Dupont was buried, immediately after his body was lowered into the ground, Sickles broke out into a spasm of passionate grief and most frantic energy. He raved and tore and down the graveyard, shouting and crying, and I might say even yelling, so much so that it was impossible for us, who were his friends, to modify him in any measure by words. We were obliged to take hold of him by force to restrain him, and thus we took him out of the cemetery. The demonstration might be called one of frantic grief; the impression I have is that he wore his clothes and hair; I can not swear positively to that; the other facts are very indelibly impressed on my mind.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ould—Can not tell precisely what was Mr. Sickles' age at the time of this occurrence; I think in 1840; cannot say how long this frantic grief lasted; somewhere between five and ten minutes; saw no trace of it the day following; two or three days afterward did not notice any thing unusual or extraordinary in his appearance; I might say possibly that he appeared to be rather light-headed, and apparently too much so under the circumstances; his light-heartedness seemed unusual, in contrast with the grief he had exhibited two days before; with respect to the first manifestation, it was the most remarkable I ever saw; I have been in the ministry several years, and have never seen any thing like it.

Major Hopkins (coachman) sworn—I saw Key on the Sunday morning he was shot; about half-past one; saw him in the middle of Lafayette-square walking back and forth two or three times to Jackson's Statue; that was all I saw on Sunday; did not see him on Monday or Wednesday before the shooting; he walked past me five or six times; saw him wave his handkerchief, two or three times; Mrs. Sickles came out and joined him on the corner of H-street and Madison-place; saw them go up Fifteenth-street, and lost sight of them as they reached the steps of John Gray's house.

Q.—"Did you know it was her?"

A.—"To the best of my opinion it was Mrs. Sickles."

Mrs. Nancy Brown, a middle-aged lady, was next placed upon the stand. As the oath was administered to her she said she did not hear it distinctly, and wanted to understand it. She drew near the clerk and took the oath.

"I knew Mr. Key, and have often seen him; the last time I saw him was on the Wednesday before his death."

Mr. Brady—"Where did you see him?"

Witness—"I saw him—"

Mr. Carlisle—"Stop, stop!"

Witness (hurriedly)—"I saw him enter the house on Fifteenth-street, next door to mine."

The witness' determination to be heard excited laughter among the crowd.

Mr. Ould—"It is time that objections be raised to these attempts to prove the alleged adultery between the deceased and the prisoner's wife. If this is a link in the chain of proof that it is desired to establish, all such testimony as this can not be received as evidence."

Mr. Brady contended that they had a right to prove that Mr. Key and Mrs. Sickles were having adulterous communication, and he would insist that Key was sullied in an act of adultery within the meaning of the law, and that was proved with the testimony of the prosecution. He offered this evidence, first, to prove that an adulterous intercourse and connection was carried on between Mr. Key and Mrs. Sickles by a standing agreement between them, dating further back than the hiring of this house in Fifteenth street, and connected with the hiring and furnishing of that house; and they would claim that when an adulterous hire is made, the husband is bound to another man daily or weekly, or whenever he could get her to go there, it was a case of habitual adultery. In other words, he said that when a man and woman go habitually to a house for the purpose of adultery, they are living in adultery all the time, and it was not necessary for the husband to wait for the disgusting exhibition of his own dishonor to when the wife is laid five or six times a week, and to then lay the gorged and satiated and brutal adulterer.

Mr. Carlisle rejoined at some length. He contended that actual, not presumptive adultery, would alone reduce the act of killing from murder to manslaughter. If it is not done at the very instant of seeing the crime committed, but after waiting till it is over, the motive is revenge, and the killing is murder. This discussion continued until the hour of adjournment.

A Poisoner Foiled—An Amusing Ruse.

A ludicrous attempt to murder a husband, which recently occurred in Halifax, England, is thus related:

A certain woman felt her husband an embarrassment, and applied to the druggist of the village for a quantity of arsenic. He very properly refused, and informed her husband, at the same time inquiring of him for what purpose his wife could require it. The husband told the druggist that if she applied again he must sell her some harmless article in lieu of the arsenic, and they would see what her objects were. She did apply again, and the very apothecary delivered her some carbonate of soda, telling her husband of what had occurred. When he went home he found a meat-pie prepared for dinner; he pretended to find it of appetite, and invited her to help herself. She refused, and he ate a quantity of the pie. In a little while he professed himself unwell, then feigned thirst, then alarming sickness, and finally death. The treacherous woman manifested great concern during these proceedings; but the instant death appeared to her to have occurred, she passed a rope through the chamber floor, and knitted it to her husband's neck, in order that when the neighbors were called in he might appear to have hanged himself. She then ran up stairs to draw up and fix the rope. The instant she had disappeared, the dead man revived, released himself of the rope, and passed it around the legs of the table, and the woman, hung that useful and domestic article, instead of the other one, the husband. The latter also ran up stairs, inquiring of the faithless woman "what was she after drawing the table up that way?" The affair had ended for the present in his, as the phrase is, taking the law in his own hands. He has given her, as the Yorkshire folks say, "a right down good hiding."

Democratic Meeting in Pike.

At a public meeting of the Democrats of Pike county, held at Picketon, on the 21st day of March, (it being county court day,) a large number of persons being present, on motion of G. N. Brown, Judge Wm. Cecil was called to the chair, and G. N. Brown appointed Secretary.

The object of the meeting having been explained, the chair appointed Robin Burns and James M. Jackson, a committee to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, who reported as follows, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we approve of the call for a Convention to nominate a candidate for Congress to represent this (the Sixth) District, on the third Monday in April next, at Booneville.

Resolved, That we recommend the delegates to said Convention to present the name of our friend and citizen, Colbert Cecil, as a man whose past official career, justly entitles him to the first claims on our suffrage for said office. And our second choice is the sterling Democrat, Ben. F. Rice, of Estill county. But they are instructed to unite upon any available man whom they believe to be able and willing to expose the corrupt principles of the new fangled Opposition party, which we believe to be an amalgamation of Know Nothingism, Black Republicanism, and all other misnomers of the day.

Resolved, That we heartily approve of the course of our late member in Congress, Hon. John M. Elliott.

Resolved, That L. B. Sward, Henry May, S. W. Rath, J. W. Emmert, H. Rath, John M. Rice, Jeremiah Odum, C. Cecil, Thos. C. Cecil, W. Sward, R. T. Burns, G. N. Brown, Wm. Rath, Dr. J. N. Draper, and all other good Democrats of the county, be appointed delegates to said Convention, who are authorized to cast the vote of this county.

WM. CECIL, Clk.

G. N. Brown, Sec'y.

[Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.]
Suicide of A. E. Gibbons, Esq., Editor of the Harrodsburg Transcript.

HARRODSBURG, Ky., April 13, 1859.

Editor Louisville Courier: A gloom over spreads our town. This afternoon, about three o'clock, A. E. Gibbons, Esq., shot himself through the head, on the grounds of the United States Military Asylum, located in this place. He was found, shortly after, by a man passing through the grounds. The alarm given, several persons soon reached the spot, and upon being asked who did it, his response was, "King Alcohol!" A few minutes before he was found, he was in conversation with Sergeant Devitt, who has charge of the Asylum, and the remarks he made to Devitt leave no ground for belief that any one but himself committed the deed, although they did not create a suspicion at the time. It is now six o'clock, and strange to say, he still lives, though the ball penetrated his brain, and passed almost entirely through his head. Attending physicians think it impossible for him to live through the night. Those who are somewhat acquainted with his financial matters, express the opinion that pecuniary embarrassment caused him to put an end to his existence. He was a member of the Baptist church. He leaves a wife and five youthful children upon the cold charities of the world. Yours, in haste,

DOUBLEYOU.

The Foreign and Domestic Policy of the Government.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer, a leading Republican paper, says, under date of April 7: "The President said to a friend to-day that on the re-assembling of Congress no important foreign question would remain unadjusted. 'The Administration has also been fortunate in its efforts to assert American rights in the center of the South American continent. Paraguay has been brought to terms by the display of a formidable armament near her frontiers. It is understood that the attack upon the Water-Witch has been explained as not having been intended as a national affront, and that the government of Paraguay has consented to pay the Rhode Island Company, whose property was illegally and unjustly taken, a full indemnity for its losses. This is an important achievement, and if the alleged attack is confirmed by official information, the Administration will be entitled to credit for the spirit and energy with which it has acted. 'The condition of the Treasury is also a considerable portion of the stock, representing the loan last taken, yet remains unused in the Treasury. The heavy receipts of duties at New York show a revival of foreign trade, which is regarded as a symptom of returning prosperity to the country. Under the influence of these facts, Government stock has gone up to an almost unexampled premium.'"

The Henderson and Nashville Railroad.

A proposition is now on foot which will assuredly build the road. The President and Directors, desirous to place the iron on the road, commencing at the depot in Henderson, and not having sufficient funds to commence the work, make the following proposition to the citizens of Henderson:

Commencing at the depot in the city of Henderson, and iron the road through the county; provided they can get a sufficient subscription, to build a road from Henderson to the river, and the cars running, one-half when laid ten miles, three-fourths when laid fifteen miles, and the balance when the iron is laid to the county line. Subscription books embracing this proposition have been opened. It is proposed to commence the work as soon as the stock is subscribed.—Hen. Com.
